

Abstract

A flexible fluid containment vessel fabricated out of fabric for transporting and containing a large volume of fluid, particularly fresh water,
5 with the fabric being made from coated thermoplastic yarns or fiber such that its respective sides have coatings so formed thereon that are different from each other or the fabric is coated with voids such that its overall density of the coated fabric is 10 less than 1 g/cm<sup>3</sup> allowing it to float.

PRINTED IN U.S.A.